

Protecting American Indian and Alaska Native Families from RSV: A New Toolkit for Tribal Home Visitors

Understanding RSV Immunization for Parents and Children: A Toolkit for Tribal Home Visitors

The toolkit provides resources for Tribal home visitors to effectively communicate with American Indian and Alaska Native (AIAN) families, including children, pregnant individuals, and older adults, about RSV and immunization options. RSV poses a significant health threat to AIAN children, who experience higher rates of hospitalization due to RSV disease.

This Toolkit Includes:

- ◆ RSV Immunization Options for AIAN Families
 - Essential information on RSV immunization including the RSV vaccine for pregnant people and RSV antibody for young children.
- ◆ RSV Communication Materials
 - Digital and printable FAQs, factsheets and infographics for home visitors to use when communicating with AIAN families.

◆ Access the Tribal Home Visitors Toolkit here to inform and protect AIAN families from RSV.
